Liquor Liability

Some days trouble will find you. Be sure your business is protected.

Why purchase Liquor Liability insurance for your business?

General Liability insurance policies typically do not cover Liquor Liability claims.

Any establishment that sells, serves or assists in the purchase of liquor opens its doors for a liability claim as a consequence of someone getting intoxicated to the extent that injuries or property damage are the result.

When someone is injured or property is damaged, almost all states allow claims against the alcohol server. Even if your business is located in one of the few states where such a claim is not allowed, you may still have to pay for legal expenses to get claims dismissed, claims from neighboring states where claims are allowed, or claims arising from navigable waterways, which may be allowed under federal law.
